

Certificate in Local Government: Law and Ethics (CLGALE)

This certificate is intended for municipal employees who wish to have a specialization in law and ethics. The law concentration is intended to provide an appreciation of the legal framework within which municipal government must operate and to help students understand when there is a need to seek the advice of a legal professional. The law concentration also includes a course on freedom of information and privacy foundations.

Increasingly municipalities are subject to requests for information from various individuals and groups. Each municipality should have one person designated who has the requisite training in order to ensure that the municipality is accountable and transparent by providing information which can be or is required to be, disclosed or withheld under the law.

Courses:

- Local Government
- Municipal Law I
- Local Government Finance
- Public Administration Professionalism
- Freedom of Information and Privacy Foundations
- Municipal Law II